PROFILE

I've worked on a wide variety of projects over my career, from web design and development, to illustration and typesetting, to model making and packaging design, and this allows me to bring a wide range of experience to any project.

Having worked in my current role for a number of years (in an employed and freelance context), I'm now eager to use my experience in a more creative, design based position.

As the sole designer and developer in my current company, I am responsible for project planning and management, from gathering briefs from clients, to designing site concepts to coding and maintaining websites. I have to be able to clearly communicate and discuss with clients, be it in person or via email or phone.

As a result of this role, as well as having been self-employed for a number of years, I'm very motivated to produce great work, and understand the importance in successful multi-tasking and keeping on target with project deadlines and briefs.

Being self-taught, I understand how important it is to keep up to date with the latest technology and trends, and take an active role in making sure to constantly improve. I'm also keen to keep up with occurrences in the design field, and try to regularly attend networking events and meet-ups, and organise a monthly group for illustrator networking.
